

Today's Thoughts: June 25, 2020: Knowing My Self

Knowing My Self

Only in relationship can you know yourself, not in abstraction and certainly not in isolation. The movement of behaviour is the sure guide to yourself, it's the mirror of your consciousness; this mirror will reveal its content, the images, the attachments, the fears, the loneliness, the joy and sorrow. Poverty lies in running away from this, either in its sublimations or its identities.

Finding The Destiny Maker (Part 2)

God as a destiny maker is distributing the gifts of a future fortune i.e. a life without any ups and downs which is only possible when souls and nature are completely pure. That is our original state when we come down on Earth to play our respective roles which was about 5000 years ago as per the secrets of the world drama shared by God with his children at the present moment. This is the moment when He is amongst us and performing His role in the world drama of freeing His children from the chains of sorrow and insecurity due to the world's problems and the problems in everyone's personal lives. He will lead us to a world where there is complete security, where every today and tomorrow will be an obstacle-free day, without any sorrow. Such an existence for about 2500 years which will begin very soon when the more than 700 crore souls return back to the world of complete peace i.e. soul world which is beyond the sun, moon and stars from where they have come 5000 years ago. This will happen after all the world souls are purified at the present moment either by the remembrance of God or by clearing up their sins by going through different negative situations due to the instability in the world and in their personal lives. Also, after going back to the soul world, the souls one after the other and very slowly, will return back to a world of happiness, where there is no fluctuation of fortunes.

There are just a few moments left in the world clock before the time pointer touches 12 am or midnight and a new morning or the world of happiness begins. We have called this message as – Finding The Destiny Maker because many of us are not making use of this golden opportunity and are not aware that the world clock is about to touch 12 am and the time bell will soon start ringing and souls will start returning to the soul world after an extremely rough duration of few years in the world when things go wrong in a big way, which is the present moment. These rough moments on the world stage are happening now and these negative moments i.e. a lot of difficult circumstances in the lives of the majority of the world population are increasing. So, the countdown for the 12 o'clock bell has already begun.

To have the courage to take risks is to overcome fear.

When I am faced with a situation where I have to do something that I have never tried or in something that I have failed, I tend to be afraid or apprehensive. Most often, I decide not to take the risk and either postpone or avoid facing that situation. But, if I am able to take a small little risk and try and do it in a different way, I would be able to overcome my fear. It is not important whether I succeed in the task or not, but having taken the risk itself helps me overcome a little of my fear. Today I will do something that I know I have to do, but have been hesitating to do because of my own fear. I will take one little risk and be prepared even for failure. I know that if I avoid things too long the fear of it only increases. So today, I will take a step towards overcoming my fear.

Message for the day

Introspection enables one to be free from the influence of negativity.

Projection: Introspection means the desire to be good. Introspection brings the ability to look within and see the true self in the mirror of the heart, thus enabling one to activate the inner spirituality. Then all effort made will be towards activating this inherent goodness. And slowly one finds that the behaviour associated with negative traits are no more expressed, as they begin to lose their hold.

Solution: When I am able to introspect and look within, I can find the goodness that is there within me. Because of this, I naturally am free from expectations from others that they should recognize my goodness or consider me good. Instead I find myself content with what I am and continue to bring out the best from within me. I also continue to learn from all situations and experience progress.
