

News Of Touring The Homeland And Abroad.

One of the specialities of the foreign lands is that the scientists who are instrumental in inventing physical facilities for world transformation are refining their inventions. The deep desire of those scientists is to conquer time and the elements of matter and be able to control nature. They consider it their victory to refine everything. In the memorial of the previous kalpa, the kingdom of Ravan is especially remembered for having the ability to control all the elements. Souls in foreign lands are engaged in this task exactly as they were a kalpa ago. As well as this, the scientists are unknowingly deeply engrossed in creating the facilities that you yogi souls are to attain as your reward in the fortune of the kingdom of heaven. They are engaged in the service of inventing elevated, satopradhan facilities of matter for you future deities. Just as you remain lost in the attainments you receive from the Father, in the same way, souls from the foreign lands want to create heaven on earth through the power of science. Heaven is where there is nothing lacking. The souls are engaged in this task very well with deep love, as instruments, according to the drama. However, they are doing it all for you. Do you feel that they are making all these preparations for you? They are serving with such honesty and cleanliness. If you see their deep love for this task, you will also experience this. They are serving day and night with great faithfulness. All those servers are deeply absorbed in just the one concern. However, do you souls, who are to attain those facilities for total happiness, who are to claim a right to the kingdom of the world, remain absorbed in deep love, or do the obstacles prevent your love from becoming eternal? Does the fire of imperishable love remain burning intensely or is there sometimes love and sometimes obstacles?

Baba saw in the foreign scientists the speciality of being constantly engaged in their task. Do you souls, who are to become masters of the world, also have the virtue that your servers have? Check yourself! On observing the children abroad who have God's knowledge, Baba saw that they also have deep love, zeal, enthusiasm and just the one determined thought of quickly giving Baba's message to everyone. The sound of the experience of special souls who have become instruments in the foreign lands will awaken the Kumbhakarnas (sleeping giants) of Bharat. Reveal such instrument souls to the Father and bring them into contact and relationship. Spread the sound in Bharat of the closeness of time through the foreign lands. Baba saw the children who have Godly knowledge and are bound in this one determined thought with deep concern. They too are not concerned whether it is day or night; both are the same. They are lost in this deep love.

According to the love now, the majority of souls were visible as the shining beads of the rosary who are free from obstacles and threaded together with love and co-operation for each other. New and old children all have the enthusiasm to give their finger for this elevated task. They want to show something to Baba. What else did Baba see? Souls who are yet to receive the message, souls who are still searching become happy with short-lived attainment of peace and power. They experience the instrument souls to be alokik angels sent to them by the Supreme Soul or God, the Father. They instantly give the return of even the little service they receive and experience happiness. They show a lot of gratitude for the little service that has been done for them. Within the drama, the destiny fixed for the elevated instrument souls and the children with Godly knowledge, of becoming all-rounders in the field of service, has a deep connection with establishment and destruction. When you serve in this way for a short time, and become all-rounders through your vision, words, connections and the attitude of subtle good wishes and pure feelings, you will reveal knowledgeable souls and souls who have knowledge of science who will be the instruments in a variety of ways for the preparation of your kingdom. Through the vision of you most elevated souls, the instrumental server souls will receive the fruit of their service, that is, they will receive help for the task of being servers. Do you understand the significance of this? In Bharat, you will meet souls who are your bhagats Three types of soul are needed: 1) Souls who are Brahmins and who are to become deities and subjects. 2) Bhagat souls. 3) Souls who will prepare and give you your kingdom. You will experience the reward of all the facilities and materials for every type of happiness that those servers, as instruments, prepare for you. The five elements, themselves, and the refined facilities made from the five elements will become instruments to serve you. Do you remain aware of this elevated stage of self-respect, or do you still continue to play the game of remembrance and forgetfulness? Become those who are the embodiment of awareness and so the embodiment of power. Did you hear the news of the foreign lands? There is significance in the travel of those who currently tour the world. Wherever children with Godly knowledge have become instruments to open service places and those who are yet to become instruments, these present foreign service places will become picnic places in the future. The temples in Bharat are the memorial places that are created after the copper age. This is why the souls in the foreign lands have a connection with the future establishment. Do you understand? Today, Baba told you the news of the foreign lands; Baba will share news of Bharat some other time. Having heard all the news, what do you now have to do? Do you just have to relate it to others, or do you have to do something? In order to attain all facilities, make yourselves worthy of becoming the masters of the world. To be a constant yogi means to be a worthy soul. Do you consider yourself to be like this? Become an intense effort- maker and make yourself complete and inspire the instrument server souls to complete their task. Only then will world transformation take place.

To the destroyers of obstacles who destroy all obstacles through their deep love; to souls who remain engaged in serving the world through their vision and attitude; to the great donor souls who, like the Father, constantly donate their virtues, knowledge and powers; to the souls who give blessings through their spiritual vision, BapDada's love, remembrance and namaste.

Meeting groups:

Do you constantly have benevolent and merciful feelings for all the souls of the world? Is it that you only have benevolent feelings for that which is limited, or do you also have them for that which is unlimited? If you have benevolent feelings for the world, you automatically have these feelings for yourself. The special duty, dharma and karma of Brahmins at the confluence age is to bring about benefit for the world. It is not difficult to carry out the duty of your birth for which you are born. Every day, at amrit vela, be aware of your position of a world benefactor. When you are set in position, you will be saved from facing opposition.

Do you constantly observe every act of yours and of others whilst seated on the seat of a detached observer? It is very enjoyable to observe certain scenes of the drama whilst seated on your seat. No scene should be seen without being seated on your seat. So, do you constantly remain seated on the seat of a detached observer? This unlimited drama continues all the time; it is not just two to three hours in duration; it is eternal. And so, to see it all the time, you need to have your seat all the time. You should not be seated on your seat for two hours and then vacate your seat. Those who constantly observe every scene as a detached observer will not fluctuate on seeing the scenes of victory or defeat; they will be constantly stable. If you remember the drama, you remain stable; if you forget the drama, you fluctuate. If you only remember the drama sometimes, you will only rule the kingdom sometimes. If it is only sometimes that you remain a detached observer, you will only sometimes be a companion in heaven. You are full of knowledge, are you not? You know everything. However, although you know everything, the reason why you are not stable in the stage of a detached observer is that you are careless about paying attention. Instead of having thoughts of the original self, you put those thoughts aside and become involved in wasteful matters. Those who do not maintain thoughts of the original self cannot remain detached observers. What is the basis of no longer thinking about others? If you constantly have good wishes for every soul, you will never become busy in thinking of others. By constantly having pure thoughts and good wishes for others, you will be able to remain a detached observer. To be a detached observer means to be a companion at this time and also in the future.

What speciality do special souls show? What scene of the final speciality of the special souls is BapDada seeing now? What would that speciality be? Scientists are refining everything and their speed is accelerating. Just as it is said, "a motor a minute", so too, the final speciality of the special souls is of granting souls mukti and jeevanmukti within a second. They would not just show the path, but would give them the experience of peace and supersensuous joy within a second. The experience of jeevanmukti is happiness and the experience of mukti is peace. Anyone who comes in front of you should immediately experience this. When you develop such a speed of silence that you conquer science, everyone who sees this victory of silence over science will have the sound of wonder on their lips. Silence should be able to achieve what science has not been able to achieve. The aim of science is to give everyone a life of peace and happiness. So, when you succeed in doing that which the scientists have been unable to achieve, it will be said that you have conquered science. When those who want peace receive peace and those who want happiness receive happiness, everyone will praise you; they will consider you to be their ancestors, their special deities, and will all praise the Father again and again. On this basis, the bhagats and the religious founders with these sanskars will emerge in the copper age. This special task is now about to take place, and so consider the final moments of victory to have come. Everyone will receive something or another. It will not just be the people of Bharat who will consider this Baba to be theirs, but everyone will consider Him to belong to them. This is why He has been called the Great-Great-Grandfather. People of other lands think that you are giving the introduction of the Father of Bharat, but since it is said that God is One, then everyone should at least experience the One. When everyone experiences the One, then you can understand that you have won. The same sound should emerge from everyone's lips: Our Baba. Then, in the copper age, everyone will call out: Oh God, the Father! Achcha.
